Additional information regarding sample selection.	As the telephone environment has changed greatly between 1996 and 2008, the sampling method has changed a lot in order to improve the representativeness of the survey. In 1996, a random sampling from the France Télécom telephone directory made it possible to survey people with a landline telephone registered on the white and orange list. In 2002, people on the red list were surveyed. In 2008, people living under households with solely a mobile telephone (17%) and those fully unbundled (3%) were also surveyed. Individuals were selected using the "Kish" method in 2008. The base was weighted by the number of eligible people in each household and correction according to Insee listings.
Database objective
Main objective	Evaluate diet and physical activity behaviors, attitudes and knowledge of french people
Inclusion criteria	Querying people in households: -equipped with a landline telephone (white, orange or red list)

-equipped solely with a mobile telephone
- and fully unbundled
